Points from the Principal

There are three parts to a good reflection:

1. Acknowledge what you did: Give yourself credit, that throughout the year you have done so much. You have written books, participated in activities, learned skills, played games, made projects and more! You did it!!
2. What went well? What did you like the most? Why do you think you liked it so much? You did so many things, now celebrate what you did well.
3. What's one thing that can be done to make the experience even better? Make it a small goal and make it concrete, so you can really acknowledge that it was done. Let me know if you need help!

Next year it'll be part 3 of reflecting will become part 2.

Have a wonderful Shabbos!
