

CHEDER CHESHEK

Your peek at how Chinuch and Cheshek go hand in hand

A Message from the Menahel

What is a surprise for some is no surprise for others.

In this week's פרשה, the Torah tells us that once Yaakov and Eisav grew up, it was easy to distinguish the difference between them. As soon as they matured into young adults, the curious onlooker was surprised at the path in life Eisav chose to take.

But, says Rav Yeruchom Levovitz זצ"ל, to an individual who understands child development, there was no surprise at all.

The choice Eisav made as a young adult was brewing during his childhood. On the other side, Yaakov's decision to devote his life to the רצון ה' was also in the works throughout his formative years.

When we are attuned to children, there are no surprises.

Chinuch demands the recognition that an entire future is being shaped when the child is young!

Great Work!

Yehuda

Problem of the Week #5

Wing to Wing

Come get a treat!

Yehuda and 5 friends dressed up like bald eagles for a play. Each costume had a wingspan of $6\frac{1}{2}$ feet. If the boys spread their wings and stand wing tip to wing tip, how many feet long will all their wings be?

Show your work!

$$6\frac{1}{2} + 6\frac{1}{2} + 6\frac{1}{2} + 6\frac{1}{2} + 6\frac{1}{2} + 6\frac{1}{2} = 39$$

$$6 + 6 + 6 + 6 + 6 + 6 = 36$$

$$2\frac{1}{2} + 2\frac{1}{2} + 2\frac{1}{2} = 3$$

$$3 + 36 = 39$$

Points from the Principal

This week we sent home our very first Middos Matter book all about taking perspective. The boys shared their stories, thoughts, and ideas, and a lot of perspective was taken during the process! When taking the BOYS' perspectives, I can share that they worked hard! 1st-4th journeyed through the Writer's Process as they brainstormed, drafted, revised, edited, and published ideas for their literary masterpieces.. Pre1a discussed, acted out, and came up with thoughts taking perspective of different situations. All the boys deserve a big THANK YOU sharing their beautiful work.

Hmmmm... What middah will we be learning about next?

Have a wonderful Shabbos and Chodesh Tov!
